Description

Students will face off in traditional speech and spoken word competition where they will be judged on several criteria including content, delivery and effectiveness.

Traditional speech is defined as the process of speaking in a structured, deliberate manner intended to inform, influence or entertain.
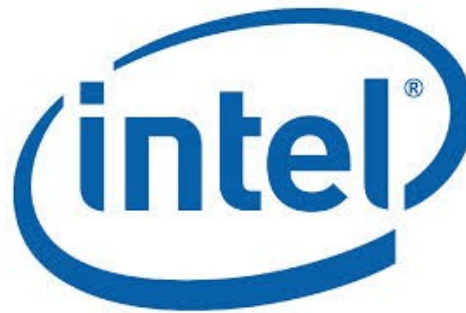

Spoken word is a form of speech making with added performance art elements that may include, but are not limited to, poetry, singing and hand props.

Prizes:

1st– Galaxy Tab 3

2nd- $100 Gift Card

3rd- $50 Gift Card

intel®

Network of Intel African Americans Employees

The Network of African American (NIA) is a chartered Intel employee group whose mission is to make Intel a Great Place to Work for employees of African descent through retention, recruitment and cultural awareness.

Contact:
Kingsley Adeoye
kingsley.d.adeoye@intel.com

Like us on Facebook:
https://www.facebook.com/pages/Intel-5th-Annual-Oratorical-Competition-Black-History-Month/541102625904784

In honor of

Black History Month

Intel's 5th Annual Oratorical Competition

Traditional Speech & Spoken Word

Date: 02/17/14

Time: 09:00AM

Location:
2828 35th St
Sacramento, CA 95817

Theme

"Technology has the power to educate, rejuvenate and transform whole societies… Everyday, however, we see examples of the very same technology negatively impacting many of our youth."

Your challenge is to think of a new innovative technology that can bring positive change to issues affecting today's youth.

Official Rules

1. Eligibility: High school students in grades 9-12 in good academic standing .

2. MUST include references to: Technology's influence on black history and its impact on today's youth as well as a high level description for design and implementation of proposed technology.

3. Categories: traditional speech or spoken word.

4. Only 1 entry allowed per participant.

5. A written transcript must be submitted to Kingsley Adeoye by Friday, February 14th, 2014.

6. Students are expected to verbally present their speech/spoken word during the competition.

7. Students will be judged on content, delivery, creativity, language, persuasiveness/overall effectiveness, and length (piece must be 3-5 minutes).

8. No profanity or obscenity allowed.

9. Students may include handheld props or visuals.

10. Intel Corp reserves the right to select the entries that necessary qualifications and to modify or cancel the competition if a minimum number of entries are not received.

Contestant Entry Form

If you'd like to enter the competition, please email the following information to Kingsley Adeoye by January 31, 2014

1. First and Last Name

2. Current High School

3. Current Grade

4. Age

5. Email Address

6. School teacher/mentor

7. Category (speech/spoken word)

8. Favorite Technology

A complete transcript of the speech must be submitted by Friday February 14th, 2014. Early submissions are highly encouraged.

Network of Intel African Americans Employees

Contact:
Kingsley Adeoye
kingsley.d.adeoye@intel.com

Phone: (916) 356-4193